Rad Recipes - Bento Lunch

Ingredients:

- 1 serving white and black rice or used minute rice and forbidden rice
- 1 sheet of nori (dried seaweed)
- 8-10 pieces of turkey
- 1 packet of bone shaped candy
- 4-5 slices of dried mango
- Black food coloring or food coloring marker
- 4-5 pieces of bowtie pasta
- 1 handful of raisins
- 1 slice of white cheese
- Small plastic Halloween decorations

SUMMER MOVIES AT HOME

Directions:

1. Place white rice in a circular container. Fill it up almost to the top. Cut out two round shaped nori pieces for Jack's eyes and a narrow "U" shape mouth. Put pieces on top of the white rice.
2. Use black rice for Jack's nostrils and for the stitches on his mouth. If you use a toothpick to place the rice it goes very fast. The black rice will stick well to the nori and white rice.
3. Surround Jack with black rice if desired.
4. In a side dish arrange turkey or chicken pieces. I thought they looked like spooky clouds, plus they added protein.
5. Slice 4-5 pieces of mango into squares. Make sure they don't have straight sides to go along with the movie theme. Draw ribbon with black food coloring and paste on bowtie pasta with a little dab of cream cheese. Arrange in a second side dish and surround with bone shaped candy.
6. For Oogie-Boogie, cut out his head as shown. Make little slits for the eyes and mouth and then cut out the details of all three using small scissors. It is much easier than it looks because it should be a little jagged and rough so don't try and make it perfect! When done, lay it on top of a piece of cheese and cut a circle out around it. The nori will stick to the cheese very well. If using a silicone cup, tear up the rest of the piece of cheese and put it underneath the circle of cheese so you don't waste it.
7. Last, spread around a few plastic Halloween decorations to add a little color if you like. Just wash them first.

Rad Recipes - Jack Skellington Caramel Apples

Ingredients:

- Popsicle sticks
- Large apples
- Caramel
- White chocolate, thinned or vanilla candy coating/bark
- Chocolate, thinned or chocolate candy coating/bark

Directions:

1. Stick the popsicle sticks into the top of your washed apples.
2. Make caramel or melt pre-made caramels and thin the caramel with a bit of water or cream.
3. Dip the apples into the caramel, allow the excess to drip off, and place on wax paper to harden.
4. Once the caramel has hardened, melt the white chocolate or candy coating/bark. The candy coating/bark is made to be thin, but if you choose to use real chocolate you will want to thin it out. I use Crisco melted with it until I like the consistency.
5. Dip the caramel apples into the white chocolate or candy coating/bark. Allow the excess to drip off and place on wax paper to harden.
6. Add a second layer of white chocolate or candy coating/bark if the color is not bright white enough.
7. Once your white layer has hardened you are ready to paint the face onto your pumpkin. I melted a bit of chocolate (and Crisco to thin it out) in a mug and then poured it into a small Ziploc baggie. I snipped a TINY hole in one corner of the baggie and used it to gently squeeze out the chocolate as I drew the face onto the apple, like you would with a frosting bag for cake decorating.
8. Allow the face to harden and enjoy!
